

How has home life changed within living memory?

Stage 1—What are my initial ideas?

Ways life has changed:

Ways life has remained the same:

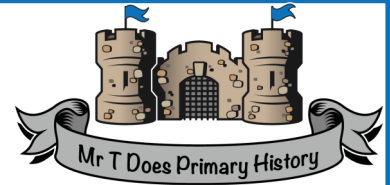

Stage 2—Gathering the evidence

People I can speak to:

Websites that may help:

Aspects of life I'm going to be researching:

Questions that I'm going to ask and answer each time I research:

How has home life changed within living memory?

Stage 3—Analysing the Evidence

Ways life has changed:

Ways life has remained the same:

Stage 4—Presenting my Findings

You can present your findings in the way you feel shows off your skills best!

Make sure that you use the evidence you gathered to explain the continuities and changes. It's important that you have the following things in your presented findings:

- 1) A clear outline of what you did (who you spoke to, what questions you asked everyone etc).
- 2) Ways that life has stayed the same or changed very little.
- 3) Ways that life has changed dramatically.
- 4) Any aspect that has surprised you or you didn't expect.
- 5) A clear conclusion.